ANKER payment paddle

The perfect solution for payment at a (safe) distance

Enabling payment despite social distancing or physical obstacles

Special checkout counters require special solutions. Not all checkout counters allow close and easy customer contact. A drive-in business, food truck or market stand, have completely different demands which have to be fulfilled. If a customer prefers to pay with a card at a self-service-gas station or for example drive-in, the distance between the counter window and car might be a challenge: the payment terminal could be dropped during hand-over, possibly the customer may not even be able to get close enough to the payment terminal and many other difficulties may occur. Especially for these cases, ANKER has developed the payment paddle.

Easy transaction at a distance

The paddle consists of a longer handle (for the checkout clerk) and a shorter one for the customer. This way, inconvenient leaning out of windows will be a thing of the past. The paddle is available for multiple payment terminal currently available - no matter whether it is with or without a cable. ANKER has considered all possible demands during its development. The total length of the paddle is 44 cm. Other lengths are available on request.

Fields of application

Night desks, fast food restaurant drive-ins, food trucks, market stands, in general – every place where payment at a distance is an issue or required.
